

ODELL WILL NOT DISTURB MURPHY.

Poohepoos Idea of Removal, While the Commissioner Sneers at Fifteen's Raids and Defends Derelict Captains.

Police Commissioner Murphy was defiant of public opinion when asked to-day what he thought of the pool-room raids which so quickly followed his statement that no pool-rooms are open.

Try the police captains in whose precincts pool-rooms were found and break them? No! The Commissioner wouldn't do anything of the kind. The raids were "theatrical," the detectives were "mythical" or "political," and the charges are "based on nothing."

"It's not pool-rooms, but politics," declared the Commissioner.

Gov. Odell said to a correspondent of The Evening World at Albany to-day that he would not take any action against Murphy.

GOVERNOR WON'T REMOVE MURPHY.

(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, April 18.—Gov. Odell says:

THIS TIP ALWAYS WINS.

DEVERY HARSH WITH DEBTORS.

"Pay Up," Says Trial Commissioner to Policemen.

"Haven't you got any honor about you, Brindley?" asked Deputy Commissioner Devery of Patrolman N. C. Brindley, of the District Attorney's office, arrested on a debt complaint at Police headquarters this morning.

Brindley is the officer who escorted Valet Jones about the Tenderloin looking for corroborating witnesses in the case of the murder of William Marsh Rice.

"The debt was contracted two years before I became a policeman," explained Brindley.

"If a man borrows he ought to make good," said Devery.

"Mr. Commissioner," put in Lawyer Grant, Brindley's counsel, "the officer was once in business and failed for $1000. He has paid $600 of that sum."

"Well, what do you do with this complaint," said Devery. "Try to pay up."

Thomas J. P. Moore, of the West Forty-seventh street station, was accused of failure to pay for groceries and to return money borrowed from a Mr. Lloyd.

"Pay the debt," ordered Devery. "Can't I pay the money," said Moore. "Queer," put in Mr. Lloyd. "He's not married."

"I'm going to next month."

"Spend your marriage and pay your debts," admonished the Commissioner.

Policeman Robert McGinley, of the West Thirty-seventh street station, was charged with having allowed an eddyman, Edward Denton, who was suffering from smallpox, to escape while he was waiting him.

Dr. Charles F. Hendrick, a Health Department inspector, said he made an examination of the man and summoned an ambulance. McGinley watched one door while the patient escaped through another.

If the Board of Health would prohibit anyone who would go right into the rooms, said Deputy Commissioner Devery, "these escapes could be made."

That collected man is at large. The case is needed at the part of the Health Department when you called an ambulance at 1 o'clock and it didn't get there until 5 o'clock.

Dr. Charles F. Hendrick, a Health Department inspector, said he made an examination of the man and summoned an ambulance. McGinley watched one door while the patient escaped through another.

If the Board of Health would prohibit anyone who would go right into the rooms, said Deputy Commissioner Devery, "these escapes could be made."

That collected man is at large. The case is needed at the part of the Health Department when you called an ambulance at 1 o'clock and it didn't get there until 5 o'clock.

Dr. Charles F. Hendrick, a Health Department inspector, said he made an examination of the man and summoned an ambulance. McGinley watched one door while the patient escaped through another.

If the Board of Health would prohibit anyone who would go right into the rooms, said Deputy Commissioner Devery, "these escapes could be made."

That collected man is at large. The case is needed at the part of the Health Department when you called an ambulance at 1 o'clock and it didn't get there until 5 o'clock.

Dr. Charles F. Hendrick, a Health Department inspector, said he made an examination of the man and summoned an ambulance. McGinley watched one door while the patient escaped through another.

If the Board of Health would prohibit anyone who would go right into the rooms, said Deputy Commissioner Devery, "these escapes could be made."

That collected man is at large. The case is needed at the part of the Health Department when you called an ambulance at 1 o'clock and it didn't get there until 5 o'clock.

Dr. Charles F. Hendrick, a Health Department inspector, said he made an examination of the man and summoned an ambulance. McGinley watched one door while the patient escaped through another.

If the Board of Health would prohibit anyone who would go right into the rooms, said Deputy Commissioner Devery, "these escapes could be made."

That collected man is at large. The case is needed at the part of the Health Department when you called an ambulance at 1 o'clock and it didn't get there until 5 o'clock.

Dr. Charles F. Hendrick, a Health Department inspector, said he made an examination of the man and summoned an ambulance. McGinley watched one door while the patient escaped through another.

If the Board of Health would prohibit anyone who would go right into the rooms, said Deputy Commissioner Devery, "these escapes could be made."

That collected man is at large. The case is needed at the part of the Health Department when you called an ambulance at 1 o'clock and it didn't get there until 5 o'clock.

Dr. Charles F. Hendrick, a Health Department inspector, said he made an examination of the man and summoned an ambulance. McGinley watched one door while the patient escaped through another.

If the Board of Health would prohibit anyone who would go right into the rooms, said Deputy Commissioner Devery, "these escapes could be made."

PATRICK WATCHES JONES SWEAR TO ACCUSATION.

Lawyer Patrick, Manacled to Guard, Entering Judge's Chambers.

Dramatic Scene as Page by Valet Takes Oath Over His Murder Testimony Before the Judge.

A dramatic chapter was added to the Rice murder case to-day.

Valet Jones was taken into Justice Jerome's chambers and in the presence of Patrick swore that the testimony given by him concerning the murder of Captain Herlihy was true.

Patrick in Tyne Mood.

Patrick stood by his lawyer and looked on in a cynical manner. Jones had been taken from the House of Detention. Patrick had come from the Tombs. He was manacled.

They were already in the chambers when Jones was brought in.

Patrick's lawyer whispered to him: "He doesn't look much worried."

"Worried? No," replied Patrick. "Why should he? He is having a good time running about the Tenderloin nights."

"Better Off Than I."

"He is in better health than I am," Jones was pale and nervous, but he went through the work rapidly.

To every one of the 50 typewritten sheets of testimony he had signed his name last night, and he swore to the signature on each sheet this forenoon.

This precaution was taken so there could be no possible question as to the authenticity of the testimony in the event that Jones should commit suicide or meet death in any manner.

The whole time in chambers did not exceed five minutes.

Back to Tombs.

William M. Cantwell has repeatedly stated that his client was anxious to be brought to trial. The progress of the wheels of justice in the case ought to be rapid enough to satisfy him, for the Grand Jury had the case within forty-eight hours after Justice Jerome announced that he would hold the prisoner.

Justice Jerome remanded Patrick back to the Tombs in the charge of homicide.

Thomas Marsau, the record clerk, left the Surrogate's office at 11 o'clock this forenoon having in his possession the Rice will of 1900. It was said he took the will away on a subpoena issued by the District Attorney. It is to be submitted to the Grand Jury. This is the will filed by Lawyer Albert T. Patrick.

J. J. Watkins, a bank clerk, testified as to the manner in which the check turned in by Patrick was refused.

Baker Reports Story.

Capt. James A. Baker, Rice's lawyer, told about his dealings with the mill-journer.

Dr. Hamilton Williams, the coroner's physician, was also before the Grand Jury and Annie McGuire and the other telephone girls told about the conversations over the wire between Jones and Patrick and other persons.

David Carville, the handwriting expert, gave his opinion in regard to Rice's alleged signature on the will.

Patrick in Tyne Mood.

Patrick stood by his lawyer and looked on in a cynical manner. Jones had been taken from the House of Detention. Patrick had come from the Tombs. He was manacled.

They were already in the chambers when Jones was brought in.

Patrick's lawyer whispered to him: "He doesn't look much worried."

"Worried? No," replied Patrick. "Why should he? He is having a good time running about the Tenderloin nights."

"Better Off Than I."

"He is in better health than I am," Jones was pale and nervous, but he went through the work rapidly.

To every one of the 50 typewritten sheets of testimony he had signed his name last night, and he swore to the signature on each sheet this forenoon.

This precaution was taken so there could be no possible question as to the authenticity of the testimony in the event that Jones should commit suicide or meet death in any manner.

The whole time in chambers did not exceed five minutes.

Back to Tombs.

William M. Cantwell has repeatedly stated that his client was anxious to be brought to trial. The progress of the wheels of justice in the case ought to be rapid enough to satisfy him, for the Grand Jury had the case within forty-eight hours after Justice Jerome announced that he would hold the prisoner.

Justice Jerome remanded Patrick back to the Tombs in the charge of homicide.

Thomas Marsau, the record clerk, left the Surrogate's office at 11 o'clock this forenoon having in his possession the Rice will of 1900. It was said he took the will away on a subpoena issued by the District Attorney. It is to be submitted to the Grand Jury. This is the will filed by Lawyer Albert T. Patrick.

J. J. Watkins, a bank clerk, testified as to the manner in which the check turned in by Patrick was refused.

Baker Reports Story.

Capt. James A. Baker, Rice's lawyer, told about his dealings with the mill-journer.

Dr. Hamilton Williams, the coroner's physician, was also before the Grand Jury and Annie McGuire and the other telephone girls told about the conversations over the wire between Jones and Patrick and other persons.

David Carville, the handwriting expert, gave his opinion in regard to Rice's alleged signature on the will.

Patrick in Tyne Mood.

Patrick stood by his lawyer and looked on in a cynical manner. Jones had been taken from the House of Detention. Patrick had come from the Tombs. He was manacled.

They were already in the chambers when Jones was brought in.

Patrick's lawyer whispered to him: "He doesn't look much worried."

"Worried? No," replied Patrick. "Why should he? He is having a good time running about the Tenderloin nights."

"Better Off Than I."

"He is in better health than I am," Jones was pale and nervous, but he went through the work rapidly.

To every one of the 50 typewritten sheets of testimony he had signed his name last night, and he swore to the signature on each sheet this forenoon.

This precaution was taken so there could be no possible question as to the authenticity of the testimony in the event that Jones should commit suicide or meet death in any manner.

The whole time in chambers did not exceed five minutes.

Back to Tombs.

William M. Cantwell has repeatedly stated that his client was anxious to be brought to trial. The progress of the wheels of justice in the case ought to be rapid enough to satisfy him, for the Grand Jury had the case within forty-eight hours after Justice Jerome announced that he would hold the prisoner.

Justice Jerome remanded Patrick back to the Tombs in the charge of homicide.

Thomas Marsau, the record clerk, left the Surrogate's office at 11 o'clock this forenoon having in his possession the Rice will of 1900. It was said he took the will away on a subpoena issued by the District Attorney. It is to be submitted to the Grand Jury. This is the will filed by Lawyer Albert T. Patrick.

J. J. Watkins, a bank clerk, testified as to the manner in which the check turned in by Patrick was refused.

Baker Reports Story.

Capt. James A. Baker, Rice's lawyer, told about his dealings with the mill-journer.

Dr. Hamilton Williams, the coroner's physician, was also before the Grand Jury and Annie McGuire and the other telephone girls told about the conversations over the wire between Jones and Patrick and other persons.

David Carville, the handwriting expert, gave his opinion in regard to Rice's alleged signature on the will.

Patrick in Tyne Mood.

Patrick stood by his lawyer and looked on in a cynical manner. Jones had been taken from the House of Detention. Patrick had come from the Tombs. He was manacled.

They were already in the chambers when Jones was brought in.

Patrick's lawyer whispered to him: "He doesn't look much worried."

"Worried? No," replied Patrick. "Why should he? He is having a good time running about the Tenderloin nights."

"Better Off Than I."

SAYS WIFE HAD HIM CONFINED.

Altschuh in Court After Four Years in an Asylum.

Jacob Henry Altschuh, inmate of the Manhattan State Hospital, Ward 1st, and, since September, 1907, was taken before Supreme Court Justice Andrew today on a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that he is sane and held illegally.

The writ was obtained by his mother, Mrs. Katherine Altschuh, through her counsel, John G. Ritter. Altschuh was committed to Bloomingdale in June, 1903, by City Court Justice John Henry McCarty. He was released after being incarcerated a month, but was again arrested on an order signed by Magistrate Kudlich for examination in Bellevue and transferred to the Manhattan State Hospital.

Altschuh was formerly a well-to-do fish merchant at No. 220 Eighth avenue and kept horses. "Was illegal," said his lawyer, "that Mr. Altschuh's commitment was the result of a conspiracy between his wife and another person to get rid of him. His wife took his name down from his store and put hers up instead. At first his wife paid for his keep at Bloomingdale, but later had him transferred to Ward 1st and as a State charge, alleging she was unable to pay for his maintenance, although she was doing a profitable business."

Justice Andrews after perusing the commitment by Magistrate Kudlich said it was for examination at Bellevue Hospital Insane Pavilion and there was nothing to show how the man had been removed to Ward 1st. He accordingly adjourned the case for a week.

DOES NOT DISAPPOINT.

The New Discovery for Cataract Seems to Possess Remarkable Merit.

A new catarrh cure has recently appeared which, so far as tested, has been remarkably successful in curing all forms of catarrh, whether in the head, throat, bronchial tubes, or in the stomach and liver.

The remedy is in tablet form, pleasant and convenient to take, and no special secrecy is maintained as to what it contains, the tablet being a scientific combination of Gualacol, Eucalyptol, Sanguinaria, Hydrastin and similar valuable and harmless anti-septics.

The safe and effective catarrh cure may be found at any drug store under name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

Whether the catarrh is located in the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or stomach, the tablets seem to act with equal success, removing the stuffy feeling in head and nose, clearing the mucous membrane of throat and trachea from catarrhal secretions, which cause the tickling, coughing, hawking and gagging so annoying to every catarrh sufferer.

Catarrh generally leads to ulceration, in some cases to such an extent as to destroy the nose entirely, and in many old cases of catarrh the bones of the head become diseased. Nasal catarrh gradually extends to the throat and bronchial tubes, and very often to the stomach, causing that very objectionable trouble, the stomach catarrh.

Catarrh is a systemic poison, inherent in the blood, and local washes, douches, salves, inhalers and sprays can have no effect on the real cause of the disease. An internal remedy which acts upon the blood is the only rational treatment, and Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is the safest of all internal remedies, as well as the most convenient and satisfactory from a medical standpoint.

Dr. Eaton recently stated that he had successfully used Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in old chronic cases, even where ulcerations had extended so far as to destroy the septum of the nose. He says: "I am pleasantly surprised almost every day by the excellent results from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. It is remarkable how effectively they remove the excessive secretion and bring about a healthy condition of the mucous membranes of the nose, throat and stomach."

All druggists sell complete treatment of the tablets at 50 cents, and a little book, giving the symptoms and causes of the various forms of catarrh, will be mailed free by addressing P. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Watches.

We have recently finished many new watches in solid 14 kt. Gold Watches, with "W. A. M." movements. The cases are substantially made and exceptionally good value.

Ladies' open-face watches... $18.50
Same watch in hunting case... 20.00
Men's Watches, open face... 30.00
In hunting case... 40.00
The same movements in silver cases at equally low prices.

A. Frankfield & Co.
Jewelers and Importers,
52 WEST 14TH ST.

MEANWILEST HILL PASSED.

(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, April 18.—The Senate today passed Senator McCabe's bill regulating the teaching and practice of hypnotism and mesmerism.

SHAMOKIN STRIKE ON.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 18.—The strike at the Natlle Colliery ended today by the return to work of the 1,000 employees.

It is the purpose of the combination to keep each of its underlying companies out of the hands of the competitors and to hold the market of each company under the control of each company.

By the National Association of Steel and Wire Manufacturers, which has been chosen general agent in adjusting the wages of the combination's steamship interests.

SHAMOKIN STRIKE ON.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 18.—The strike at the Natlle Colliery ended today by the return to work of the 1,000 employees.

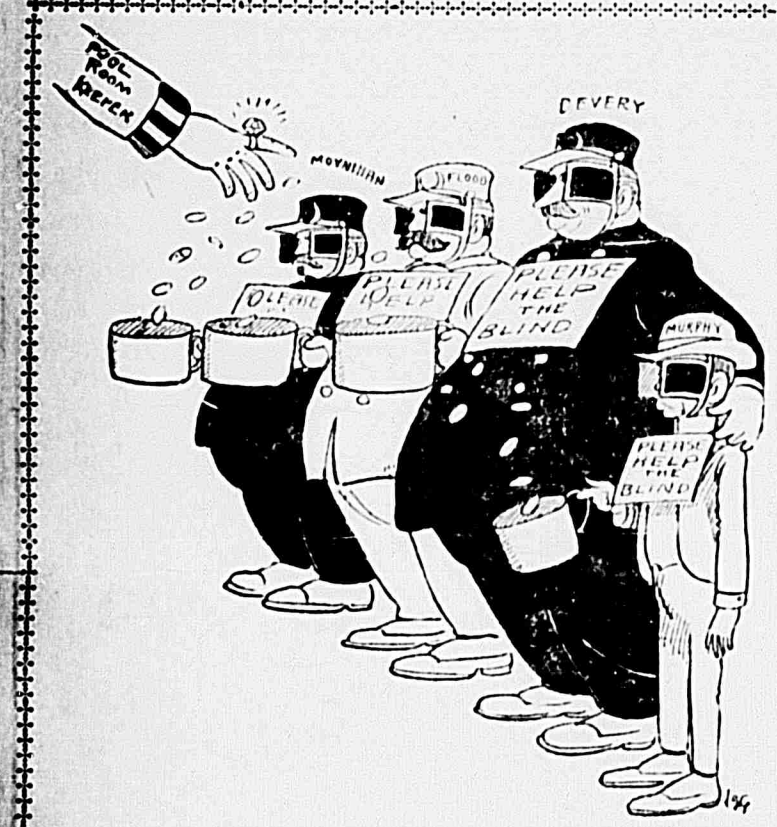

It is the purpose of the combination to keep each of its underlying companies out of the hands of the competitors and to hold the market of each company under the control of each company.

By the National Association of Steel and Wire Manufacturers, which has been chosen general agent in adjusting the wages of the combination's steamship interests.

SHAMOKIN STRIKE ON.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 18.—The strike at the Natlle Colliery ended today by the return to work of the 1,000 employees.

It is the purpose of the combination to keep each of its underlying companies out of the hands of the competitors and to hold the market of each company under the control of each company.

THE POOR BLIND MEN.

pooched the idea of removing Commissioner Murphy today when informed of the rumor that, in consequence of Murphy's remarkable attitude regarding the pool-rooms and his failure to break derelict captains, the Commissioner himself must suffer.

Gov. Odell even affects not to know what the Police Commissioner is doing. To The Evening World correspondent to-day he said:

"I haven't the least idea what Commissioner Murphy is doing. I haven't the least idea of taking any action against Commissioner Murphy on to-day for anything he may have been doing. I am ignorant of the rumors that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts."

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

THE POOR BLIND MEN.

pooched the idea of removing Commissioner Murphy today when informed of the rumor that, in consequence of Murphy's remarkable attitude regarding the pool-rooms and his failure to break derelict captains, the Commissioner himself must suffer.

Gov. Odell even affects not to know what the Police Commissioner is doing. To The Evening World correspondent to-day he said:

"I haven't the least idea what Commissioner Murphy is doing. I haven't the least idea of taking any action against Commissioner Murphy on to-day for anything he may have been doing. I am ignorant of the rumors that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts."

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner. "I do not believe there are pool-rooms open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"You have said you didn't believe there was a pool-room open in the city. The raid shows that there were pool-rooms in certain precincts. May we gather that there are pool-rooms in all the other precincts?"

"I can't order your thoughts," replied the Commissioner